

Fieldwork (Ph.D.)

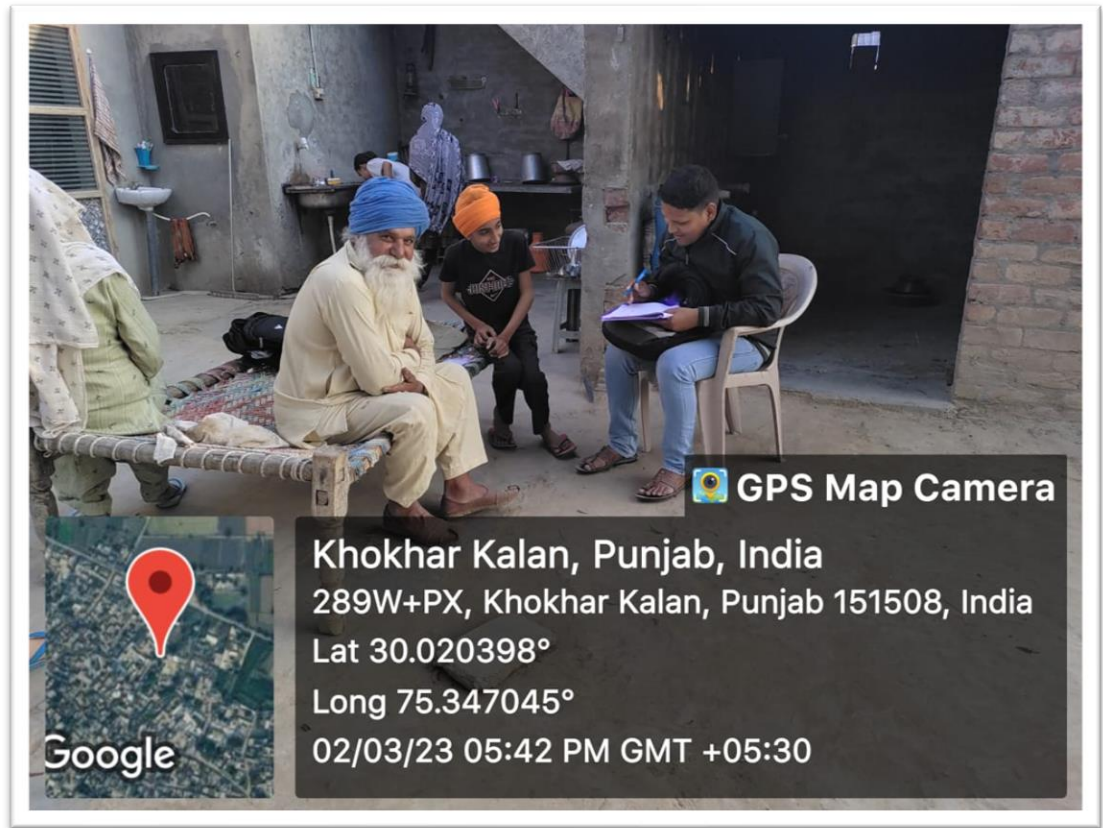

Doctoral fellows, project fellows and other research scholars are integral part of the Department of Anthropology. These dedicated scholars not only contribute significantly to the department's research initiatives but also benefit immensely from hands-on fieldwork experiences in different parts of India. They engage in rigorous data collection (both biological and social) in rural/urban areas, participant observation, and ethnographic studies, honing their research skills and deepening their understanding of anthropological concepts. The present department also allows them to contribute up-to two years to conduct a wide-ranging fieldwork, so every research scholar can collect inclusive, rich bio-social data from a participant after having consent.

Field Work (Punjab)

Field Work (Punjab)

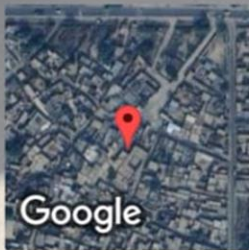

Field Work (Punjab)

 GPS Map Camera

Ram Dittawala, Punjab, India

X9F5+7VQ, Mansa Rd, Ram Dittawala, Punjab 151505, India

Lat 29.972756°

Long 75.360142°

06/09/23 11:46 AM GMT +05:30

 GPS Map Camera

Nangal Kalan, Punjab, India

W99R+GRG, Nangal Kalan, Punjab 151505, India

Lat 29.918807°

Long 75.392164°

08/04/23 07:41 AM GMT +05:30

Google

 GPS Map Camera

Khokhar Kalan, Punjab, India

289W+PX, Khokhar Kalan, Punjab 151508, India

Lat 30.01913°

Long 75.348257°

13/03/23 07:35 AM GMT +05:30

Google

